

New Partner in the CORIT Advisory team

It is with great pride we announce that our team is strengthened by the appointment of Katja Dyppel Weber to Associate partner as of 1 July 2015.

Katja Dyppel Weber possesses significant technical competences and is broadly respected for her knowledge within international tax, corporate tax, financial instruments, hydrocarbon taxation, M&A, and anti-abuse legislation.

Katja has been an important part of the firm since the establishment. Prior to that Katja was employed with a big 4 firm. Katja holds a master degree in commercial law and business administration and a Ph.D. degree on the basis of a thesis on financial instruments. In 2014 Katja was admitted to Talent 100 in Denmark and she was recently appointed associate professor. Moreover, she is the author of a number of books and articles within corporate tax law and international tax law matters.

We look forward offering Katja's services to existing and new clients in her new capacity.

About CORIT Advisory P/S

CORIT Advisory is a highly specialized and fully independent tax boutique firm, offering tax consulting services within a range of complex areas of tax law. Our primary task is to assist businesses in identifying, addressing and mitigating tax risk in a rapidly changing environment.

Our ambition is to be recognized as a leading knowledge provider and business partner within the international tax consulting industry. Technical competences are highly prioritized.

We offer a unique combination of practical and applicable tax advisory services with the knowledge and insight of academia. This unique mix is the very core of CORIT Advisory and is the common denominator of the people behind the firm.